NO. 20)

NATIONAL DEFENSE LAWYERS
WASHINGTON, NOVEMBER 13, 1942

REGIONAL AND SECTIONAL CHARTS

1. By military order, all regional and sectional charts that could be used for navigational purposes, have been classified as restricted military information. Therefore, certain precautions shall be taken in providing custody for such material.
2. All such material shall be placed in the custody of the base Operations Officer. When a chart is needed for an official mission, the pilot drawing the chart from the Operations Officer shall be required to sign a receipt for it.
3. Upon completion of the mission, the chart shall be returned to the Operations Officer, and the receipt returned to the pilot.
4. Any chart which becomes unserviceable shall be promptly destroyed by the Operations Officer and replaced.
5. At no time shall charts, maps, or any other information that might give comfort to the enemy be left in airplanes, even though the airplanes are housed under lock and key.
6. In view of the fact that navigational charts are particularly difficult to acquire, care shall be exercised in the handling of the present supply.
